Overall	24/25

5 – elite; 4 – above average; 3 – average; 2 – below average; 1 - poor

Scouting report:

Two year starter in college. Team advanced to the FCS playoff round as a senior. First team all-Big12 and first team all-American.

From NFL.com: “Not only the most physically gifted QB in the draft, but arguably the most talented player overall. Blinding speed and his intangibles are making general managers swoon”.

Scouting report - Player 2

Pos: QB

College: University of Mississippi

H/W: 6'6, 260

QB Ratings:

Speed	5/5

Intangibles	4/5
Overall	23/25

5 – elite; 4 – above average; 3 – average; 2 – below average; 1 - poor

Scouting report:

One year starter in college; was injured the year before. Team lost in the national championship game last year. First team all-SEC and first team all-American.

From Mel Kiper: “He might have the strongest arm coming out of college in the history of the draft. Could be the next John Elway in three years. Decision-making is sometimes a concern.”

Scouting report - Player 3

Pos: QB

College: Clemson

H/W: 6'5, 250

QB Ratings:

Intangibles	5/5
Overall	22/25

5 – elite; 4 – above average; 3 – average; 2 – below average; 1 – poor

Scouting report:

Played one year at Florida State, then left school. Played a year of community college and two years at Mississippi. Team won the national championship last year.

From sbnation.com: “Elite size, speed, and arm strength. Could run for 1000 yards as a QB. A winning player who willed his team to the national championship. Accuracy and mechanics will need to be developed at the next level.”

Scouting report - Player 4

Pos: QB

College: University of Illinois

H/W: 6'0, 210

QB Ratings:

Speed	2/5
Arm	3/5
Mechanics	3/5
Accuracy	4/5
Intangibles	5/5
Overall	17/25

5 – elite; 4 – above average; 3 – average; 2 – below average; 1 – poor

Scouting report:

Three year starter in college. All-time passing leader for his college and considered one of the best players to ever play for the school. Team won the Rose Bowl in his senior year.

From 247 scouting: “Lacks ideal height and his throwing mechanics are a problem. Might struggle to complete passes at the next level. Has difficulty making deep throws and is most comfortable throwing to tight ends and running backs.”

Scouting report - Player 5

Pos: QB

College: USC

H/W: 6'1, 215

QB Ratings:

Speed	3/5

Mechanics	1/5
Accuracy	3/5
Intangibles	4/5
Overall	14/25

5 – elite; 4 – above average; 3 – average; 2 – below average; 1 – poor

Scouting report:

Two year starter in college. Played at University of Washington for one season, transferred to community college, then played two years at USC. Record was 9-4 as senior.

From Todd McShay for ESPN.com: “I think he has a good chance of being a major bust. He’s mechanically very rigid, lacks arm strength, is a little short, and his accuracy is a major concern.”

Power	5/5
Receiving	2/5
Durability	3/5
Overall	20/25

5 – elite; 4 – above average; 3 – average; 2 – below average; 1 – poor

Scouting report:

Best year was as a sophomore. Missed 3 games as a junior and 5 as a senior. Ran for 1000 yards for three straight years.

From NFL.com: “Fastest player in the draft, with a mix of speed and power. Can run past or run over defenders. Pass catching is a weakness. There were some durability concerns in college, but his combine performance was exceptional.”

Scouting report - Player 8

Pos: WR

College: Vanderbilt

H/W: 6'5, 236

WR Ratings:

Speed	5/5

Hands	5/5
Routes	4/5
Durability	5/5
Overall	22/25

5 – elite; 4 – above average; 3 – average; 2 – below average; 1 – poor

Scouting report:

Played for a bad college team and was constantly double-teamed by opposing defenses. College stats were underwhelming. Displayed rare physical traits at the combine.

From Walterfootball.com: “Massive size for such a fast player. Unique combination of size and speed. Size inhibits route running and changing direction. More of a straight-line, go deep type player.”

Scouting report - Player 9

Pos: WR

College: University of Alabama

H/W: 6'1, 211

WR Ratings:

Overall	22/25

5 – elite; 4 – above average; 3 – average; 2 – below average; 1 – poor

Scouting report:

Starred on a high-profile college team and earned significant national attention. Caught 2 TDs and 183 yards in the championship game. Started for two years.

From 247 Sports: “Outstanding route runner with blazing speed and superior quickness and agility. Catches everything thrown at him. Is a little small, which could lead to injuries at the next level.”

Scouting report - Player 10

Overall	19/25

5 – elite; 4 – above average; 3 – average; 2 – below average; 1 – poor

Scouting report:

One of two first round caliber safeties in the draft. Two year star for his college and was a second team All-American. Displayed a penchant for making big plays in college.

From CBS.com: “Undersized and a little slow, he displayed excellent instincts and ability to make big plays during his college career.”

Scouting report - Player 11

Overall	21/25

5 – elite; 4 – above average; 3 – average; 2 – below average; 1 – poor

Scouting report:

First team all-Big10 and third team all-American. Finalist for the Jim Thorpe award, but did not win. Several dynamic punt returns during college career.

From NFLscout.com: “Great instincts and a heady player. Is too slow and will have difficulty keeping up with some NFL receivers. Might be best suited to playing in the slot.”

Scouting report - Player 12

Pos: DT

Overall	21/25

5 – elite; 4 – above average; 3 – average; 2 – below average; 1 – poor

Scouting report:

Considered the best defensive player in the draft. Was a two time all-American who received considerable national attention playing for a high profile program. Won the Lombardi Award, Outland Award, and was the SEC defensive player of the year.

From Mel Kiper: “In my 23 years of scouting college talent he is the most dominant defensive player I have seen to come out of the SEC. Tremendous combination of size and strength”

Scouting report - Player 13

Pos: DT

College: West Virginia University

H/W: 6'0, 280

DL Ratings:

Strength	4/5
Speed	4/5
Agility	5/5
Overall	20/25

5 – elite; 4 – above average; 3 – average; 2 – below average; 1 – poor

Scouting report:

Played for a bad college team and received little national attention. Was a first team all-American who dominated the competition, with many sacks, forced fumbles, and tackles for loss in two years as a starter.

From The draftnetwork.com: “Undersized for an interior lineman, he will have trouble shedding blocks at the next level. Can be pushed around by bigger offensive lineman. Outstanding college production might not translate to the pro level. Definitely a hard worker with excellent agility.”

Scouting report - Player 14

Overall	23/25

5 – elite; 4 – above average; 3 – average; 2 – below average; 1 – poor

Scouting report:

Was two time first team all-Pac10 and Pac10 defensive player of the year as a senior. College production was underwhelming, but dominated at the combine, displaying outstanding speed and agility for his size and weight.

From Bleacher Report: “Ran the fastest forty time among defensive line prospects at the combine. His compelling mixture of speed and size indicates he can dominate as a pass rusher in the NFL.”

Scouting report - Player 15

Pos: DE

College: Bowling Green

Speed	5/5
Agility	5/5
Overall	22/25

5 – elite; 4 – above average; 3 – average; 2 – below average; 1 – poor

Scouting report:

Played for a MAC school where he routinely faced (and dominated) inferior competition. Was the MAC defensive player of the year and a rare four year starter at the college level.

From Walterfootball.com: “Blinding speed off the edge, he has the ability to dominate as a pass rusher at the next level. At his size, ability to hold up against the run is a concern, as is the level of competition he faced at the collegiate level.”

Scouting report - Player 16

Overall	19/25

5 – elite; 4 – above average; 3 – average; 2 – below average; 1 – poor

Scouting report:

A solid and steady player at Michigan State. Was first team all-Big10 and second team all-American. Physical measurables were not as strong as other DL prospects, but was considered a winning, hard-nosed player at Michigan State.

From SBnation.com: “A bit undersized, but is dependable against the run and has good pass rush ability. Might not be a star at the next level, but can definitely become a dependable, solid, NFL starter.”

Scouting report - Player 17

Strength	4/5
Speed	5/5
Coverage	4/5
Overall	21/25

5 – elite; 4 – above average; 3 – average; 2 – below average; 1 – poor

Scouting report:

Dominant college career. Started all four years, was a two time first team All-American and two time all-Pac10.

From Scout.com: “Blinding speed as a pass rusher and tremendous agility off the edge. Is small for an NFL defensive end and is weak against the run. Will have to play in a 3-4 scheme. Hardly ever played coverage in college and was exclusively a pass rusher. “

Scouting report - Player 18

Overall	22/25

5 – elite; 4 – above average; 3 – average; 2 – below average; 1 – poor

Scouting report:

First team all-American and first team all-SEC. Won the Butkus Award as the college football's top linebacker. Broke record for most career interceptions for a linebacker.

From Sports Illustrated draft preview: "A little small and not great against the run. Brilliant work in coverage and has the ability to either drop back or rush the QB. A rare combination of rushing ability and coverage skills. Could be like getting two players in one."

Scouting report - Player 19

5 – elite; 4 – above average; 3 – average; 2 – below average; 1 – poor

Scouting report:

Two-time first team all-American and two time first team all-Big10. Won the Outland Trophy as college football's top lineman.

From 247 scouting: "The best offensive line prospect to come out of college in twenty years. Whoever drafts him is going to get a 15-year Pro Bowl player. We can't find any flaws in his game."

Scouting report - Player 20

5 – elite; 4 – above average; 3 – average; 2 – below average; 1 – poor

Scouting report:

Second team all-American and second team all-Pac12.

From Pro Football Focus: “May have to switch to guard in the NFL. Will have trouble handling outside speed rushers. Combine performance was excellent as was his Senior Bowl performance.
